Talk by Dr Paul Jennings

"Children's sickness and health: the experience of late Victorian and Edwardian Harrogate"

The fear of the illness and possibly premature death of a child was an ever-present source of worry to Victorian and Edwardian parents. This talk explores those themes through Harrogate's schools, looking at the state schools attended by the working classes and the private schools of the middle classes. The talk will examine the range of sickness to which children succumbed, the reasons for it and efforts to improve the situation.

Schools Competition and Awards Ceremony

Come and join us to celebrate the winners of the primary and secondary schools' competition with special guest, The Mayor of Harrogate, Councillor, Chris Aldred.

On the day, there will be a talk from Dr Jed Atkinson, Education Officer at the Royal Pump Room Museum. A doctor of geology, Jed explores the intersection between earth sciences and social history. He is also part of the Fossils in t' Hills team, sharing stories of local geo-heritage.

For over 450 years people have been “taking the waters” at Harrogate in the hope of curing a wide range of ailments. Unlike the fresh, clean springs we might expect, Harrogate’s waters are often foul-smelling and rich in salt, sulphur and iron. Visitors were prescribed different waters much like medicines from a GP, helping Harrogate become a renowned centre for healing and wellbeing. In this talk, we explore what is really in these waters, why Harrogate has 88 different springs, and what lies beneath the town.

Sarah Devonald, Andrew Hitchen
and Dr Paul Jennings
"Sound Health - the music of Harrogate's Spa, Stray and Streets"

2nd May , 7PM-8:30PM

In the 100 years leading up to the Second World War Harrogate was known for its cures, green spaces and elegance. But what was music's role in the town and how might it have promoted health and wellbeing, not only for its many rich visitors but also for the working people who served them?

Social historian Dr Paul Jennings, Concerts Director Andrew Hitchen and BBC Radio 3's Sarah Devonald take us through some of the musical highlights of Harrogate's heyday as a spa town, illustrated with plenty of music, stories and images of times gone by.

Talk by Dr Mike Green
"Rheumatology advances through the ages"

13th May, 7PM-8:30PM

Over the past 200 years, rheumatology has changed dramatically. In the 1800s, treatment mainly focused on relieving pain and resting because little was known about these conditions. In the 1900s, better understanding led to anti-inflammatory drugs, steroids, and medicines like methotrexate, as well as improved imaging and diagnosis. More recently, biologic and targeted treatments have greatly improved outcomes, helping people stay active.

Harrogate & District NHS Foundation Trust will be hosting two Open Days on Friday the 8th of May and Wednesday the 20th of May between 10am and 4pm for those interested in finding out more about our local hospitals, past and present. Join us in our newly refurbished Herriot's learning space to speak to teams about the work they do and how you can get involved, as a Trust member, volunteer or by working for us. We look forward to welcoming all members of the public who are interested in finding out more about the services we run. Our restaurant adjacent to the learning space will be open all day for hot and cold refreshments. Please contact hdf.membership@nhs.net to confirm if you would like to attend.

During the exhibition period we hope to unveil our latest heritage plaque to commemorate Dr Wilfrid Edgecombe. He qualified as a doctor in 1893 and came to Harrogate in 1894. In 1932 he was instrumental in the foundation of Harrogate General Hospital. He was twice president of the Harrogate Medical Society and three times President of the Harrogate Club. He served as a Harrogate Borough Councillor between 1919-1932 and was Justice of the Peace. Fittingly he was described as "perhaps the last of the Spa Physicians". It will be located at Craven Lodge, Victoria Avenue where he lived from 1931-1945.

Harrogate Library will host a small display of information and photographs on the theme of "Health in Harrogate", created using resources from their archive. Contact harrogate.library@northyorks.gov.uk.
